Updates:

- 3rd house on krenzinstreet is NOT SAFE
- Banker close to hospital accepts drugmoney
- No newspapers are allowed anymore in the southside of Engrevua
- The 'Biek Niemans' Inn is now a military safehouse and is loaded with soldiers
- The supply shortcut through re-medylane leaks information, possibly corrupted.
- DO NOT, I repeat, DO NOT buy any supplies from the farmers-market at 34th street, food can be poisoned!
- The Isle is reopened but beware of the soldiers and accomplices of the serpent, they still have the area under their control! And remember: Never use the Isle to escape, YOU WON'T GET OUT!!!

The strike of the students, an example of unanimous national resistance

The students of the Engrevuan universities have fiercely resisted the new rules regarding compulsory military service that our beloved (read dreaded) leader issued last tuesday! Many of our most distinguished universities have linked their arms to protect the students of military slavery.

A number of universities in the north did not participate in this heroic act, but this can only be blamed on the temporary success of some demagogues.

This action of resistance is an example for every one that is commissioned for slave work for the fascist army! Let this be a lesson for all young workers in Engrevua,

You too can accomplish success by refusing unanimous and consent.

If you need help please contact your own universities or ask the professors for support. The Mongoose folk newspaper will try and unite all students, but naturally this takes time. Still, let's Revolt for Equivalence and Democracy and together we shall prevail.

Students all across Engrevua this is a call for resistance! Put down your work and fight the oppression!

Despite life-threatening situation The Ten gave a speech!

We all know that the Ten are stuck in a horrible situation and are fearing for their lives. Still they took the opportunity to speak to us about freedom and hope during a secret meeting at a secret location-

Here are the highlights of this speech:

Bless the strong people of Engrevua, we're proud that so many of you are enduring the oppression like heroes. We know how many we've lost and we're sorry for all of those how fell fighting. Never lose hope, never lose sight of the truth and last, don't swallow the lies this foul serpent is telling you. We will prevail, together as one, Engrevua will thrive!

National News

Jasmine: 'We shall overcome!'

Despite all turmoil going on and macaber (to say the least) situations, some of us still feel the need to entertain. We heard that, in secret, people held a musical party at a hide-out location right here in Engrevua. Jasmine Tezina (fake name) brought the audience a marvelous performance of the song 'we shall overcome'. Later that night a jazz quartet, they call themselves 'the unknown four', gave a soft smooth jazz concert lasting for more than two hours. After this risky concert we held some interviews. The guests stated that even a couple of soldiers and serpent enthusiasts were attending the gigs and this statement gives hope people. It really does form sparks of hope to see that even soldiers want to end those inhumane living conditions and that they too are growing weary and tired of all the violence and mindless massacres. Keep playing music people, it reminds you that you are human, that you are indeed still alive! Never let them take your creativity, never let them take your music!

Two years with only a parrot

Last Friday Mr. B.T. Cubeck has been set free by the Engrevuan oppression. After enduring two years of imprisonment and torture prison chief M.J. Heck showed a little mercy and set Cubeck free. Cubeck found some of his family to be alive and is living currently in central Engrevua. We asked Cubeck how his conditions were in prison. He told us that they were inhumane, he got tortured once every week for information he doesn't possess and only got food and water three times a week. When we asked him what kept him going he showed us his inside pocket, within it...a parrot! He fed the bird for two years after it managed to break in the prison. Cubeck stated the bird kept him going and helped him end-

Announcements leaked!

L.J. Jardon has 'voluntarily' resigned as the head editor of Engrevua's most popular propaganda paper in the south. She is currently hiding, family and friends have been informed and she is well. She is searched for after she decided to switch to the resistance, so keep this information as low profile as possible.

Former righthand of the serpent E. C. Meck is now head editor of the Engrevuan entrevue. Furthermore mister Meck set up a new set of rules that a meeting consisting of more than 10 persons must be requested at the workoffice of the serpent enthusiasts. The Mongoose urges to please keep that order in mind, for people will be executed if neglecting the rules. And least, the textilefactory on Bleak Avenue has been closed, employees are transferred to the metal factory in the south. Please fulfill your duty as a citizen and pass along those new announcements, conserve our safety!
